7 QUESTIONS: PETER TUNNEY

SOHO BEACH HOUSE, POSTED: 3 JANUARY 2012

At a recent celebration of his new book 'SKULL STYLE: Skulls in Contemporary Art' at Soho Beach House, artist Peter Tunney answered the seven questions that we ask everyone.

Who inspired you most when you were starting out in your career?

Vincent Van Gogh. If he could get through it, I could too. Really, I mean it, that was the baseline: maybe I'd be nuts and homeless but I was going to be an artist regardless.

What's the last useful thing you learned?

That you don't have to be nuts and homeless to be an artist.

Where do you go to get away from it all?
